One Week to Save That Extra Dollar

One week to save that extra dollar and add it to your contribution for the Red Cross. In the following week much of our attention will be drawn to the fact that again we are being called upon to help the organization that helps our service men. Today, February 22, the Honor Roll will be dedicated to the men of our community who have left to serve. On March 1, we will be able to say 'thanks' and serve our men by contributing to the group which functions in their behalf.

So many times the reminder comes about the many new activities of the Red Cross. The newest undertaking is a mass meeting of the many relatives of released prisoners. Each additional activity means further expense, the reason for the larger quotas set for every community this year.

Dennis Bennett Home for Visit

Dennis Bennett arrived Tuesday on the Challenger to see his mother, Mrs. J. H. Bennett, who is quite ill, but has been a little brighter since his arrival.

Dennis is studying in Chicago for a doctor's degree and is also minister of two churches in Amboy and Lee Center, Ill.

Linking together the historical battlefields of early American history and the modern, today's dedication of the American Legion honor roll will see unfurled the particular flag that was flown at the scene of Custer's Last Stand—Fort Custer.

By devious means, this national ensign has been handed down through the years, to come at last into the possession of Commander Rex Fuller of the local post. At the sound of bugles and under the massed colors of many legion posts, this same flag will again signal its "broad stripes and bright stars" as eternal Liberty and Freedom to those sons now waging war to perpetuate all that the American flag has come to mean.

From the close of school at 1 o'clock, followed by a street parade, through the afternoon program, a busy time is scheduled. Grand Marshall of the procession will be Howard J. Smith, leading the school band, then a few old settlers and the school children and organizations. A number of other American Legion posts are expected to appear in the line-up, with veterans of this and other wars trailing their colorful banners.

Meanwhile, Hon. Frank Jordan, Secretary of State, other state officials and legion leaders will dine in San Jose and appear at 2 o'clock to begin the dedicatory services on the high school grounds.

Commander Rex Fuller will be master of ceremonies and introduce the distinguished guests and speakers. The American Legion Auxiliary ladies will have charge of the registration booth for all to sign, pass out the programs and otherwise assist in the afternoon's services.

Presentation of the massed colors of all legion posts, unfurling the Fort Custer flag and official dedication of the honor plaque will occupy the next hour. Following discissal at the honor roll, the assemblage will be invited to the school auditorium where a musical hour will ensue. Here likewise greetings between old timers will take place and acquaintances be renewed.

The program indoors prepared by Frank Triena of the high school faculty, will consist of selections by the grammar school orchestra under the direction of Richard Gordon; vocal numbers by the high school a capella choir directed by Mr. Triena; a trumpet trio composed of Alvin Bond, Lawrence Hartley and Franklin Dennis; and vocal selections by Miss Dorothy Ceccarelli, a talented young San Jose soprano.

ENOUGH IS ENOUGH

The report from Washington that both Congress and the White House are cooling toward further increases in payroll taxes will come as welcome news to Mr. Average Worker whose pay check is already being "clipped" for social security, union dues, withholding taxes, group insurance, unemployment insurance and various other items.

Congress has shown its attitude by repeatedly postponing scheduled increases in social security taxes, and the President, in his budget message, asked for lower taxes on consumers.

In the light of these developments, the effort in California to impose a compulsory health insurance plan on wage earners is out of line with the growing national feeling as reflected by Washington.

However well-intentioned the sponsors of compulsory health insurance are, there are two facts which their good intentions cannot melt away: 1. Excessive compulsion—and that includes compulsory health insurance—is definitely un-American. We already have too many "musts" and should have fewer, rather than more of them. 2. Payroll deductions have reached the stage where many workers are virtually "deduction poor."

There can be no doubt that most workers feel they have had enough pay check punishment and want no further "deducts." The California legislature should ignore pressure groups and heed the wishes of the wage earner by refusing to approve any compulsory health insurance plan.

GEORGE WASHINGTON

On the 213th anniversary of the birth of George Washington, the American people once again honor the memory of this famous hero.

That America is a great Nation today is due to a substantial extent to the solid foundation upon which it is built—a foundation which Washington and the patriots of his time laid with such painstaking care.

We wonder what George Washington would say of America if he could see it now. What would be his reaction not only to the vast physical changes, but to the strange concepts of government being set forth?

Since Washington's time, as the Nation grew larger and our society became more complex, it was inevitable that certain individual rights had to be surrendered in the interests of the common good. But would he not look with alarm at the increasing efforts of government to regulate the lives of the people in almost every detail?

So, in observing the birthday of this great American, let us resolve to protect the liberties which he fought to establish and which our brave fighting men of today are staking their lives to preserve.

BROTHERHOOD WEEK

In the interest of a genuine and lasting peace the people of America this week are giving special attention to the problems of cooperation and understanding among racial and religious groups.

Clear-thinking citizens realize that the maintenance of real peace is not merely a matter of avoiding armed conflict with other nations. They see that there must be a moral and spiritual unity within the Nation which obliterates the artificial barriers of origin, color and creed, if America is to realize a true tranquility.

This year the slogan of Brotherhood Week is: "In Peace as in War—Teamwork." Teamwork is winning the war today. Teamwork must win the peace tomorrow. The love of liberty and happiness is not confined to any one group or nationality, nor should any class of persons be denied the right to liberty and happiness.

Let each one of us during this week—and in every week—try to better understand his neighbor. Let us stifle racial and religious intolerance. In so doing we shall build a better Nation and a better world.

BRITISH RATIONING

February is the month during which British women are issued a new clothing ration book containing 24 coupons, the quota for the next six months or probably longer. This six months' allotment will not go far. A tweed suit, the basic costume in every British wartime wardrobe, takes 18 coupons.

If the British woman decides that she will make her old suit do for another year and concentrates on underwear, her 24 coupons will buy one pair of pajamas, one slip, one girdle and three pairs of stockings. Clothes rationing is probably the biggest problem confronting British women.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Get Ready for a Glorious Tomorrow

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

"Are you planning for your soldier's return, not with ice-box cake and fried chicken, but with real financial help and a plan for his future?"

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

JUST how heroic are you? Just how courageous? Just how well prepared for strong and helpful facing of the most tremendous problem that ever has been put before American women, or any women, of any time or generation?

How long since you have taken stock of yourself, analyzed what you are doing, thought of what is ahead?

The answer to that is probably, "Oh, not for years. Not since John and I first were married, and sat down to work out, with a pencil and paper, just what we had to spend and just how much we had to do with it."

If that is so, today is a good day to think of the future, as we all must live it, and begin to get your house in order.

Start with money. Money sounds so vulgar, so materialistic, and yet money trouble is at the root of nine out of ten divorces, and of thousands of other domestic difficulties that never get as far as divorce.

So start with money. Are you living well within your income? Are you saving? Are you being fair to every member of the family, not wasting to the point that worries the man of the house, not indulging the children? Are you planning for your soldier's return not with ice-box cake and fried chicken, but with real financial help and a plan for his future?

If the answer to all this is "no," then you're not going to have the place you should in the world-after-the-war. You're not living up to your obligations.

End Money Worries.

Get the money question settled once and for all. Get out of debt. Stop charging things; pay cash. You'll find the whole family braced and encouraged when you take this bull by the horns; when you announce there is just one trouble that isn't going to touch your family after the war, and that trouble is niggling, annoying, nervous-making bills and extravagances and waste.

Especially braced and encouraged by this course will be that quiet, tired, bewildered person, sometimes known as the old man. He'll take on new youth when you stand beside him, assuring him that no matter what happens, no matter how wild a storm of depression rocks the world, your little craft can weather it.

Then, while you are cutting, watching, saving, simplifying, see to the comfort of everyone. Make yourself a committee of one to insure hot prompt meals, lower voices, avoidance of controversy, welcome to the weary homecomers, Clean rooms, cheerful talk. Make yourself the person to whom someone in your home circle will presently say, in a rare moment of appreciation, "Gosh, you are lovely to come home to, Mom; you help us all to get through!"

With no money worries, now or to come, and peace and harmony at home, you've achieved miracles. If every woman in every home could do it, there wouldn't BE any after-war depression. It's as simple as that.

Afterward you'll have time to turn to the problems of others; to go on vigorously with Red Cross and rehabilitation work; to make a real friend of the crippled or blind boy in the neighborhood, whose own family has let him come back to nothing but fretting, complaining, Live within your income. . . .

ACHIEVE A SOUND FINANCIAL STATUS

About the best home-coming present you can give your soldier-husband is financial security. During wartime it is easy to earn money. There are so many essential and well-paying jobs that almost any young wife should be able to pile up a tidy bank account and a number of war bonds.

Getting out and staying out of debt is the other side of the picture. Obligations should be paid off quickly. Then you should buy only for cash. It is wisest to purchase only things you need immediately. Such things as home furnishings, electrical appliances and so on are scarce and expensive. Wait until the war is over.

Once on an even financial keel, it is fairly easy to stay on it. With proper management, the storms of depression can be weathered.

With a little nest egg, it will be possible to buy that home in the suburbs, or that little farm, or oil station, or whatever you have wanted for so long. It may be more education that will be desired. Your savings can take care of these needs.

helplessness, a general sense of resentment and despair. There'll be plenty of this!

Pray Often.

Thirdly and lastly, pray a great deal; pray every hour. If you don't exactly know how to begin, find out. Peace may bring us great miracles, in fact peace WILL bring us great miracles, if we will work in our hearts and souls to bring them about. Miracles of service, love, forgiveness, tireless effort to get the twisted world back on a safe path again.

These miracles may mean self-sacrifice, doing without luxuries to which we are accustomed, widening our services and our sympathies to take in a great many persons to whom we are not, as the world judges things, obligated. But prayer opens the way to these expansions and generosities, and makes them seem the normal and easy thing to do.

Prayer makes everything right. Prayer — and only prayer! — will make blindness or lameness sufferable to the gallant boy who comes home thus handicapped, and only prayer will reach those more dreadful cases of mental upset that we are counting by the thousands among our returning boys.

The war work of a woman in Omaha is to give blind boys piano or organ lessons. She is 70, a music-teacher long retired. She takes on two boys every day, together. They love it; they grow animated and interested over their slow scales. Then they have tea and cookies and talk; they love that part, too. She can't give them eyes, or usual jobs, or hopes of the natural joys of husbands and fathers in the future. But she can give them music, and she gives what she can. She wrote me that after seven months' lessons one of her boys played the organ in a church last week. Well, perhaps you've never sat in darkness for months or you might know what that meant to him!

Get ready to do something heroic, strong, hard. The moment is coming when you'll be needed.

ALLOW FOR SHRINKAGE

Two Kansas state college home economists who have been studying shrinkage found that the greatest contraction occurs in the first washing, but that most washable yard goods shrink even in the second, third or fourth washings. The biggest shrinkage comes in the length of the material, so buy sufficient material to allow for this loss.

By gently stretching continuous filament rayon fabrics when ironing, it is possible to bring them back to their original shape.

THE BOOK MARK

NEW ARRIVALS:

"Lower Than Angels" by Walter Karig.

This is a first novel. However this novel is not the first publication to this author's credit. Under pen names he has written many juvenile books and several mysteries. "Lower Than Angels" is a very modern book; it is a very good book. Here is the story of Marvin, his small struggles, and his folks. The view point from which the book is written is from Marvin's "remembering." The recovery by the author of the 'Teens, 'Twenties, and 'Thirties will make it a classic in that rate and most enjoyable art—the magic creation of nostalgia.

"Poor Child" by Anne Parrish.

Margaret Leech, novelist and author of "Reveille In Washington" says "A fearful and wonderful book . . . beautifully and sensitively written."

"Poor Child" is a story about Martin Doyle, a twelve year old. Martin is a child you will hate and love and, above all, understand as though he were yourself. This is a novel that once read can never be forgotten. Anne Parrish has brought her unusual understanding of people of all kinds to the telling of this story, giving us another one of her creations incomparable in magnificent creative skill and ease of story-telling.

"Looking For a Bluebird" by Joseph Wechsberg.

When Joseph Wechsberg left home to see the world (as musician aboard a poor relation of the Ile de France), the neighbors offered condolences to his mortified parents. But Joseph did not weep. Around the world more than several times he went, playing his fiddle and making friends. This is the log of his trips; the story of the lovely, crazy world he lived in during the twenties and thirties, a world of drowned pianos, advanced tropical decay, opera from the peanut gallery and ships that list like a goose with a hangover. The book is crazy but funny

Victory Gardens A Must This Year

Calling upon Victory Garden committees to continue the home food production campaign with renewed and greater effort in 1945, B. H. Crocheron, director of the Agricultural Extension Service, University of California, emphasized the need for home gardens as reflected in recent changes in the food situation.

"Set-asides for the military are increasing day by day with less supply for civilian needs," Crocheron said, as he referred to the President's proclamation of last week in which he called upon victory gardeners to "continue their good work."

The local Agrictultural Extension Service office, 201 Post Office building in San Jose has a supply of garden circulars for free distribution which were prepared for local conditions. Phone Columbia 3866 for a copy.

Also available at this time is an 11-page pamphlet on "The Propagation of Tomato Plants."

Scene from "ABIE'S IRISH ROSE"

"Abie's Irish Rose" To Play in San Jcse March 12

"Abie's Irish Rose," which plays one performance in San Jose on Monday evening, March 12, direct from Eastern cities where the present revival has been running for over a year, originally ran in New York City for five and one-half years, netting its author, Anne Nichols, $10,000,000. The great popularity of the radio serial created a demand for the revival which, twenty-two years after the original opening, Miss Nichols has found one of the most successful revivals in box office history.

Following "Abie's Irish Rose" on March 12, the Denny-Watrous management is bringing the famous R. H. Burnside Gilbert and Sullivan Opera company to San Jose on Sunday evening, March 25. "The Pirates of Penzance" will be given by an all-star cast, direct from the Ambassador Theatre, New York.

Tickets are on sale at the Denny-Watrous box office, auditorium.

Lt. Flood Is Missing in Action

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Flood of North Second street, received a telegram last week that their son 2nd Lt. Walter A. Flood was missing in action over Germany on January 28.

Lt. Flood was pilot of a Flying Fortress with a bomber squadron of the Air Corps.

Young Flood was just 23, a graduate of Campbell high school, attended San Jose State college and was enrolled at U. C. at Berkeley when he enlisted.

Campbell friends extend their sympathy and hope that some further word may reveal his safety.

Marjorie Griffin Weds Lt. Blair at F. Stephens Home

Mr. and Mrs. Clark A. Griffin of Tracy, Calif., announce the marriage of their daughter Marjorie Jane to Lt. Floyd Blair of Sidney, Montana. The ceremony was performed in the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Stephens, south of Campbell at 2 p. m. on Monday, Feb. 5 by Rev. Joseph H. Bennett. Mrs. Stephens is the bride's aunt.

Pvt. Richard C. Stephens, home on furlough from Fort Bliss, served Lt. Blair as best man. Only immediate members of the family were present.

The bride wore a soft grey wool suit with a fuschia hat and black accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Blair graduated from Washington High school at Centerville and attended San Jose State college. She has been employed by the Alameda East Bay Title company for the past three years.

Lt. Blair is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Blair of Sidney, Montana. He has one sister, Mrs. Hazel Borgaard, who is at home while her husband is in the service. Lt. Blair attended Montana State college at Bozeman leaving school to join the Air Force in 1942. He has just returned from overseas where he served as fighter pilot in the E. T. O. He wears the air medal with three oak leaf clusters and the distinguished flying cross.

After the ceremony Mrs. Stephens served a simple two course luncheon. The guests were seated at a single long table, the centerpiece of which was Roman hyacinths and ferns in a silver bowl flanked by tall white tapers in silver candlesticks. A feature of the luncheon was the beautiful three-tiered bride's cake.

Following a brief honeymoon in southern California the couple are at home in Merced where the groom is serving as fighter pilot flight instructor.

Lt. Flood Is Awarded Medal

The Press has just received the following release from the War Department Public Relations office:

An Eighth Air Force Bomber Station, England — Second Lieutenant Walter A Flood, B-17 Flying Fortress pilot has been awarded the Air Medal according to a recent announcement by the commanding general of the U. S. Eighth Air Force in England.

Lt. Flood won the Air Medal for "meritorious achievement" on a series of combat missions over Germany while flying with the 92nd Bombardment Group, oldest Fortress group in the Eighth Air Firce. Several of these combat missions were attacks on German bridges, railway marshalling yards and airfields in coordination with the Allied ground offensive on the Western front.

He received his pilot's wings and commission in March, 1943, and arrived overseas in Nov., 1944.

Red Cross Drive, March 1

Some twenty-five Campbellites attended the recital Tuesday evening in the San Jose State College Little Theatre in which Miss Ruth Cousins participated. She sang two solos and was also one of a trio. This concert is an annual presentation of senior vocal students at the college.

"The Bat" Will be Presented by Seniors March 2

Mysterious murders, shivery rappings, and many false leads to follow are in store for friends of the Campbell Union High school on Friday evening, March 2, when the senior class presents its production of "The Bat," in the high school auditorium.

Founded on Mary Roberts Rinehart's famous story, "The Circular Staircase," "The Bat" has never been surpassed by any other play for thrills and mystery. The skill and naturalness with which the accusing finger points from one character to an other as the real criminal keeps the audience on tenterhooks throughout the entire performance. Incident is piled on incident with skill and plausibility, and it is impossible to guess what the outcome will be until the final curtain.

The play is directed by Miss Diane Winnia and will be presented by a competent and talented cast composed of Beverly Suess, Reba Fryer, Alice Olsen, Donna Nichols, Bill Casterson, Marvin McCorkle, Ross Fuller, Dale LaMar, Stanley Goold, and Ed Brajenovich. Music by the Campbell High school orchestra under the direction of Frank Triena will be a featured part of the program.

Tickets are now on sale and may be purchased from any member of the senior class.

At the next meeting of the Orchard City Grange, February 27, the lecture hour will feature a lecture by a representative of the Rye Tractor Company, of San Jose, with motion pictures. The public is invited to this program, which will begin at 8 o'clock. The regular meeting of the Grange will begin at 7:30. A girls' trio from the high school will give a fine program.

Your Government Urges You To SAVE GAS
AND ALL VITAL FUELS
Keep Room Temperatures At 68 Degrees

UNCLE SAM has made an urgent appeal for fuel saving throughout the nation. Here in California, we should conserve our gas supply by being thrifty in our use of it in home and industry. Gas is a vital and essential fuel used in the production of war materials that fill the ships that sail out the Golden Gate to our fighting men across the Pacific.

You can contribute to the fuel-saving effort by guarding against wasting heat in your home—by keeping room temperatures at no more than 68 degrees.

This company has pledged full support to a request of the Office of War Utilities, War Production Board in its national fuel-saving program. We urge our customers to help through voluntary cooperation.
